Editor's Message

Well, who would have thought we'd be here, eh? That's how I started my last message, and unfortunately, it still rings true. What we thought would be a World Cup warm-up camp is now a rebuilding phase. So what better way to rebuild than a friendly get together in sunny Spain.

Grenada is the opposition. Of course, there were rumours that Wales would be the other team in this window, but that fell through because their World Cup dream fell apart, just like ours. They're currently 163rd in the FIFA rankings, and I dare say that anything less than three points, and I dare say we shouldn't let the team back in the country.

I just want it on record that the only reason I'm not there is because my sister is getting married on the same day, the selfish cow... Anyways, Conor is over there, so please feel free to say hi and how you wish you were speaking to me instead. Also, please have some sun cream ready and don't keep him out too late at night.

On a serious note, this is a great opportunity for what we've got on the periphery - sorry, Stephen. There was originally SEVEN brand new caps when the squad was originally announced, although we've lost a few, it's still a fascinating encounter.

Rlghteo, I guess I'll see you all in Montreal! Be Safe.

David

How to get to the Stadium

How to get to Estadio Enrique Roca de Murcia

Estadio Enrique Roca de Murcia is located in the municipality of Churra, which lies north of the city of Murcia. The distance from Murcia's city centre is about 7 kilometres.

The stadium is situated next to the large Nueva Condomina shopping mall, and lies adjacent to the A7 motorway, though it does not have a dedicated exit. Therefore, take the 763A in the direction of Murcia, and at the roundabout follow for Centro Comerciales. Pass Ikea (on your left), take the third exit at the roundabout, and the first at the next roundabout. Signs will guide you from there.

If using public transport, Estadio Enrique Roca de Murcia can be reached with Murcia's only tram line 1. Catch the tram on the northern side of Murcia's city centre at Plaza Circular or at the Avenida Juan de Borbón. The stadium is the last stop on the line. The journey takes about 20 minutes.

An alternative is bus 1, which can, among others, be caught from the Calle Florida Blanca near the main railway station, from Plaza Isabel in the historic city centre, or from Plaza Circular. Get off at stop Nueva Condomina.

Estadio Roca Stadium Info

Estadio Enrique Roca de Murcia replaced Murcia's old Estadio La Condomina, located in Murcia's city centre.

The stadium was officially opened on October 11, 2006, with a friendly match between Spain and Argentina. The first goal was scored by Xavi. Real Murcia played its first game at this stadium on 26 November 2006, against Real Valladolid.

The stadium has a capacity of 31,179 seats, making it the 16th-largest stadium in Spain and the largest in the Region of Murcia.

The stadium is also occasionally used for matches of the Spanish national team.

Estadio Nueva Condomina changed its name in 2019 to Estadio Enrique Roca de Murcia following a naming rights sponsorship deal.

Murcia is one of the potential host cities for the 2030 FIFA World Cup.

Murcia – What to see

Murcia Cathedral

This stunning cathedral displays a mix of Gothic, Renaissance, and Baroque architectural styles. Its impressive bell tower, one of the tallest in Spain, offers panoramic views of the city. Visitors can explore its lavish interior.

Real Casino De Murcia

An emblematic building that combines modernist and eclectic styles, the casino is a beautiful architectural gem worth visiting.

Murcia – What to see

Plaza de las Flores

A vibrant square filled with colourful flowers, cafes, and restaurants, this is a perfect spot to relax and enjoy local drinks and cuisine while soaking up the lively atmosphere.

Salzillo Museum

Dedicated to the works of the famous Murcian sculptor Francisco Salzillo, this museum showcases intricate sculptures used in the city's Easter processions, reflecting the rich baroque heritage of the region.

Monteagudo Castle

Outside the north-eastern suburbs stands a rocky limestone mountain 149 metres in height, with a large statue of Christ atop the castle walls.

A look at Grenada

By James Agnew

The Grenada national team is governed by the Grenada Football Association, which was founded in 1924. It has been an affiliate member of FIFA since 1978 and an affiliate member of CONCACAF since 1969. Regionally, it is an affiliate member of CFU in the Caribbean Zone.

Grenada played its first international match on 13 October 1934, against British Guiana, a match which Grenada won 2-1.

Grenada has never participated in a FIFA World Cup Finals. They have qualified for the CONCACAF Gold Cup three times and have also participated four times in the CONCACAF Nations League. Regionally, the team finished twice as runners-up in the Caribbean Cup (in 1989 and 2008).

Grenada are currently 163rd in the FIFA rankings. Their highest ever ranking was 88th place in July 2009 and their lowest was 176th place in December 2007. Their biggest win came on 15th April 1998 when they defeated Anguilla 14-1. Their heaviest defeat came against Curaçao on 10th September 2018, a match that they lost 10-0.

Their most capped player (with 72 appearances) is the former Hurricanes SC midfielder Cassim Langaigne. Their highest ever goalscorer is Ricky Charles with 37 goals.

The Grenada squad is made up mostly of players that play domestically in Grenada, but they also have a smattering of players from England, Scotland, the United States, Canada and Belgium. Their Head Coach is Anthony Modeste, a former midfielder for Grenada, who won 67 caps and scored 13 goals.

In qualification for World Cup 2026, Grenada were drawn in qualification Group B, with Costa Rica, Trinidad and Tobago, St Kitts and Nevis and Bahamas. After a 2-2 draw away to Trinidad and Tobago and a 3-0 defeat at home to Costa Rica, Grenada finished the group with two victories against Bahamas (6-0) and St Kitts and Nevis (3-2) but were eliminated after they finished third on goal difference.

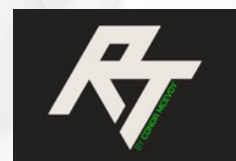

In the recent 2026 FIFA Series in Rwanda, Grenada lost both of their matches, 4-0 against Rwanda and 3-0 against Kenya.
